	From recent specialties, it appears to me that he has worked primarily alone as an analyst. It isn't evident that he has directed any work. I understand that he has not made much of a reputation as a decision maker so far at This, of course, could be expected in terms of the short time that he has been there.	25X1A
	He might work out well working with	25X1A
	Our manpower ceilings don't allow us to add another person in this area.
	My basic reaction is that I have doubts about this man's desire to be responsible. Do you have any additional background from people for whom he has worked in the past?
